Tempe Nightlife Isn't Worth DUI-ing For, Here's Why

By Bryan Young, Law Offices of David Michael Cantor

Tempe, Arizona has a great reputation for lively nightlife and fun-filled events that keep people dancing until the wee hours. With so many local attractions and opportunities for alcohol consumption, it's critical to be sure to avoid drinking and driving. This is something that law enforcement and local governments take very seriously. To ensure the public safety, police agencies seek to clamp down on dangerous automotive activity, especially after-hours. More >>

How to Plan for the Next 5 Years

By Mike Templeman, Entrepreneur

Where do you see yourself in five years? Will you be a workaholic on Wall Street, living the simple life in America's heartland or will you be a successful entrepreneur with a million-dollar business? If you are reading this article, I am guessing your answer is the latter. More >>

Anatomy 101: Remembering Who the Site is For

By Peter Adams, Ping! Development

When you embark on the journey of creating something, it's important to remember your audience. Whether it's coming up with a great blog or presentation, a re-designed or completely new Web site, or a brand new product or service, it's important to keep in mind that, without an audience, you're really just talking to yourself. Arizona Veteran Supportive Employer: Statewide Training Series

Public and private sector employers are invited to attend a 2-hour training focused on how to effectively hire, manage and retain service members, veterans and their family members. Managers, supervisors, human resources personnel, recruiters and leadership are all encouraged to attend this free event on October 20. This training helps employers fulfill the requirements to become an Arizona Veteran Supportive Employer (AVSE). The training and AVSE process are offered at no cost to Arizona employers as part of the Arizona Roadmap to Veteran Employment. More >>

Migration to EMV Chip Card Technology and Your Small Business

U.S. credit card companies are making the transition from magnetic stripe technology to cards with chips. Chip cards are payment cards that have an embedded chip, offering increased security when your customers use the chip to pay in store. Chip cards are based on a global card payment standard called EMV, which stands for Europay, MasterCard and Visa, currently used in more than 80 countries around the world. The United States is now in the process of making the migration to EMV technology. More >>

Tempe to Add "Candlesticks" to McClintock Drive as Buffer Between Bikes and Vehicles

As part of Tempe's commitment to providing travel options for all modes of transportation, the city will build on its recent reconfiguration of McClintock Drive by adding "candlesticks" between newly added bike lanes and vehicle travel lanes. The city plans to install candlesticks, vertical barriers, along McClintock Drive between Southern Avenue and Baseline Road to create more of a separation between bikes and vehicles. More >>
